

NEAEF Fellowship Announcement

2015 YOUNG LEADERS TRAINING AND RESEARCH PROGRAM IN REGIONAL COOPERATION AND DEVELOPMENT

The Northeast Asia Economic Forum (NEAEF), with support from the Freeman Foundation, has been conducting its annual Young Leaders Training and Research Program in Regional Cooperation and Development since 2006. NEAEF is pleased to announce its 10th Young Leaders Program (YLP) from August 14 through August 29, 2015 in Tianjin and Beijing, China. Those dates do not include travel time.

2015 YLP FELLOWSHIP

NEAEF awards YLP fellowships to support potential leaders working on the challenges and progress in regional economic cooperation in Northeast Asia, including the region's relations with the United States. Awards are granted on a merit-based and competitive basis. NEAEF welcomes applications from young professionals, junior faculty members, postdoctoral researchers, and graduate students pursuing advanced degrees in economics, history, law, sociology, political science, environmental sciences, computer science, or related disciplines.

The main goals of the Young Leaders Program are to:

- 1) Enhance knowledge of the social, economic, and political institutions of the individual countries in Northeast Asia and North America;
- 2) Encourage young leaders to study a wide range of perspectives on regional and multilateral economic cooperation;
- 3) Foster a sense of community among young leaders by preparing them to work collaboratively and internationally;
- 4) Provide young leaders with practical education in policy making through opportunities for direct dialogues with policymakers and other experts; and
- 5) Promote a better understanding among young leaders of individuals, countries, and cultures.

YLP consists of seminars devoted to regional issues of functional economic cooperation such as energy and environment, transportation and logistics, cross-border infrastructure development, trade and finance.

In addition, YLP offers a series of collaborative problem-solving exercises, participant presentations, and cultural and educational events dedicated to the host country. Such activities may include visits to local government agencies, educational or research institutions, NGOs, or manufacturers in order to promote appreciation of the host country's role in regional cooperation and development.

An international faculty of leading academics, representatives of international organizations, government officials, parliamentarians, and executives from the private sector will lead or assist the seminars and collaborative exercises.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

YLP Fellowships are awarded to persons from China, Japan, Korea, Mongolia, the Russian Federation, and the United States who have demonstrated potential leadership. Applicants must be affiliated with an academic, research or business institution or a non-governmental, governmental or international organization when applying for the fellowship. Recent post-doctoral researchers or post-graduate students are eligible. People from Northeast Asia who are studying or working in the United States may also apply, as may U.S. citizens studying or working abroad.

As all seminars and collaborative exercises are conducted in English, candidates must be proficient in English. Participants from the U.S. must have at least a basic proficiency level of one Northeast Asian language.

Exceptional consideration may be given to applications from past recipients in order to maintain the continuity of the evolving YLP cadre.

THE AWARD

The award is a competitive grant and may cover all program-related expenses, including visa application, travel, local transfer, accommodation, meals, study tours, training, and materials. Cost sharing is highly encouraged to increase the number of participants. Limited amounts of other YLP-related expenses may be reimbursed on a case-by-case basis. YLP Fellows are responsible for obtaining their Chinese visas, if required, and provide evidence of medical and liability insurance to NEAEF.

Participation in the entire duration of the program is required. No exceptions will be made.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Applicants are required to submit the following documents:

- 1) A cover letter, which includes:
 - a. specific motivation(s) for applying
 - b. research interest(s)
 - c. benefits expected from YLP

In addition, please provide the following information in your cover letter:

- d. whether or not you are interested in making a presentation (If yes, provide a preliminary title, abstract, or presentation text.)
- e. whether or not you have learned of YLP from any past YLP recipients or affiliates (If yes, please provide the name or names.)
- f. where you will be located in early August 2015. If an applicant is selected, NEAEF will make the final decision on the YLP Fellow's itinerary and the amount of airfare to be covered by NEAEF.

The information requested above will be used for program management purposes only and will not affect the selection of candidates.

2) Curriculum vitae

3) Two letters of recommendation are required. The names of the persons providing the recommendations need be included in your cover letter.

Please direct your inquiries or submit all the documents in your application to neaeef@hawaii.edu by Monday, June 8. Only email submissions are accepted. If you do not receive a reply acknowledging receipt of your application, the application may not have been transmitted properly. In this case, please check with us on the status of your application.
